Eleven County Men Affix Signatures to Paper Objecting to Some Items. Claim that Expenses were Excessive.

This afternoon there was filed in the office of Prothonotary Roth an appeal from the report of the county auditors for 1915.

The appeal is signed by the following: E. C. Thomas, Gettysburg; H. D. Bream, Gettysburg; Edward A. Trostle, Gettysburg; David Thomas, Arendtsville; J. I. Hereter, Highland township; Dennis C. Asper, Menallen township; Grover C. Myers, Tyrone township; C. H. Musselman, Biglerville; J. A. Lentz, Gettysburg; H. E. Riddlemoser, Franklin township; and H. J. Gulden, Menallen township. It alleges the following:

That the auditors did not audit, settle, and adjust the account of Sheriff G. R. Thompson for 1915; the credit item in the public accounts "Temporary Loans paid off, $26,000"; or the credit item, "Discount and Interest on Temporary Loans, $1831.21." The following credit items found by the auditors to be correct are alleged to be excessive, improper and illegal: "Searching, Making, and Indexing Judgment Docket (For Taxation) $200"; "Expenses to State Commissioners' Convention (Commissioners' Clerk, and Solicitor) $163.59"; "Commitment and Transportation of Paul Brown, $64.16"; "Searching, Making, and Indexing Mortgage Docket for Taxation Purposes, $200"; "Transcribing military roll, George W. The action is brought under the Act of Assembly 1878 which provides that the Court may, at its discretion, award an issue to be tried by a jury.

TWO SICK FROM POISONOUS FUMES

Were Fixing Rat Poison when they Became Ill. Fairfield Physicians Hurried to Give Necessary Relief.

Inhaling the fumes from a phosphorus poison which they were preparing for rats, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Sanders, living about a mile and a half from Fairfield, were made seriously ill Friday night. The timely arrival of two physicians who were quickly summoned alone prevented fatal results.

The poisoning was of a most peculiar nature. Mr. and Mrs. Sanders were placing the phosphoric preparation on some bread which they intended putting about the place in the hope that it would get rid of rats which had been proving troublesome. They got some of the poison on their hands and in a short time began to feel a burning sensation in their mouths. Not long afterward this same sensation in their stomachs caused a severe discomfort and hurries were sent for both Dr. Trout and Dr. Glenn, of Fairfield.

They went out to the Sanders place and found that neither one had taken water to relieve their suffering. If they had done so, a much more serious result would likely have followed. The proper medical treatment was given upon the arrival of the physicians and to-day the patients are now apparently out of danger though still suffering from the effects of their experience.

Unless there was some injury done by the poison which does not now appear it is not thought that any serious results will follow.

She leaves her husband and the following children, William Reck, of Harney; Mrs. Daniel Reaver, of Two Taverns; and Miss Anna Reck, of Gettysburg; also one sister and one brother, Mrs. William Lightner, of Harney; and Samuel Allison, of Gettysburg.

PLAN COLLEGE PENSION FUND

First Steps Taken to Provide Retirement Allowances to Teachers who Stop Work after Specified Time.

The New York-Gettysburg club has issued as a supplement to "The Gettysburgian" a comprehensive statement of a suggested plan which is intended to provide retiring allowances and deferred annuities to professors and instructors at Gettysburg College.

The club is considering the contribution of $5000 to such a fund, of which they now have on hand $3622.75. The plan suggested by the New York alumni covers almost eighteen printed pages and has evidently been secured at the expense of no little time and effort. It is given however by the committee of the club "as a basis for further discussion."

The idea of the committee which has taken the initial steps in the movement is to have the alumni of the college contribute annually at the rate of $10 per capita for ten years, each class to be responsible for the sum which would come from the number of its alumni living, and having the class contribution as a unit. At the end of ten years a fund of approximately $100,000 would have been accumulated from the interest of which it is calculated the demands of the fund could be met annually.

At the same time it would carry along the payments to professors entitled to its benefits, no drafts to be made upon it, however, before September 1st, 1918.

The retiring allowances, according to the plan, would be granted to two classes of teachers of Gettysburg on two distinct grounds: to a teacher of specified service on reaching the age of sixty five; to a teacher after twenty five years of service as professor, or thirty years of service as professor and instructor, in case of disability.

The amount to be paid those who retire on age, would be (a) for an active pay of $1200 or less an allowance of $1000, provided no retiring allowance shall exceed ninety per cent of the active pay; (b) for an active pay greater than $1200, the retiring allowance shall equal $1000, increased by $50 for each $100 of active pay in excess of $1200; (c) no retiring allowance shall exceed $2000.

The amount to be paid to those who retire on account of physical disability would be (a) for an active pay of $1200 or less, an allowance of $800, provided that no such allowance exceed eighty per cent of the active pay; (b) for active pay greater than $1200, the allowance shall equal $800 increased by $10 for each $100 in excess of $1200; (c) for each additional year of service above twenty five for a professor, or above thirty for an instructor, the retiring allowance shall be increased by one per cent of the active pay.

The plan provides that a widow who has been for ten years the wife of a teacher who at the time of his death was receiving or entitled to a retiring allowance shall receive one half of the amount which her husband was receiving or would be entitled to.

The report of the committee, after outlining the plan for the pension fund takes up that of deferred annuities and discusses it at length. It provides that the teachers at the college shall pay toward the fund sums according to a fixed scale, the balance to be paid by alumni and friends.

George W. Kessler, secretary of the New York-Gettysburg Club is in active charge of the preliminary steps to this time and the report published this week shows that the whole matter has been given most careful thought and attention. The rules for the granting of allowances are identical with the rules of the Carnegie Foundation insofar as they are applicable.

MULES DRAG BOY IN ROUGH FIELD

Whirled Round and Round by Wheels of Rapidly Moving Machine. Leg Broken. Rushed to Hospital Late at Night.

Lloyd Kuhn, twenty one years old, had his left leg crushed near the ankle and barely escaped being pounded to death Friday afternoon when, while cultivating corn in his father's field, near Abbottstown, the two mules with which he was working became frightened at the rattle of the machinery and ran away.

The young man was thrown from his seat and his leg was caught in one of the wheels, and he was dragged for more than a quarter of a mile over the clodded field before the fractious animals were brought to a stop. Two brothers who were close by at the time stated that he was whirled around and around with the revolving of the wheel in a frightful manner, and they were sure he would be lifeless by the time they were able to come to his rescue.

The brothers with the injured man were Clarence and Marlow, seventeen and nineteen years old. One of them was operating a roller at the time and the frightened animals almost collided with him in their mad flight. After the two brothers had taken the injured man from his perilous position he was removed to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kuhn, and Dr. Aldinger, of Abbottstown, was summoned.

After the leg was in splints he was taken to the York hospital Friday night about 11:30 o'clock, where Dr. Bacon wired the injury in hopes of saving the leg. At one of the fractures the bone protrudes through an ugly wound. The young man was taken to York in an automobile by his uncle, Harry Kuhn, and son, Lloyd.

Brodbeck, the accounts show, expended $3,092. The statements show that Samuel K. McCall, Republican candidate for congressman, spent less than $50.

Among the larger items in Brodbeck's account were $650 to the Democratic congressional campaign committee of York county; $400 to the city committee; $100 to the Adams county committee, and $350 for postage. For printing, traveling expenses, stationery, advertising and postage, Laucks spent $1,157.80; for watchers, $920; for transportation of voters, $519, and for dissemination of information to the public, $875.

FERTILIZER LAW IS BROKEN HERE

Allegation of State Department of Agriculture which Lists One Case for Prosecution in this County.

Among the fifty three prosecutions for violations of the State fertilizer law, ordered by Secretary of Agriculture Charles E. Patton on Friday, one will be brought in Adams County. The name of the defendant has not been given out for publication.

Eight of the cases are for selling fertilizers that did not meet the manufacturers' guarantees, upon analysis, and forty five for selling fertilizers that were not registered. The local action is for the latter offense. York County will have six such cases, Franklin one, and Cumberland one.

The large number of prosecutions for non-registration resulted in a change of practice by the Department of Agriculture. Heretofore, when such brands were found the Department sent notices to the parties responsible for their sale. It was apparent that this courtesy was abused and led to carelessness on the part of the shipper. It is hoped that this change will obviate this practice. All dealers are warned against selling, offering or exposing for sale any fertilizer upon which all of the requirements of the fertilizer laws were not complied with. Where dealers have ignored these notices and aided in evading the law, actions will be brought against them rather than against the manufacturer.

Fertilizers to be legally sold in Pennsylvania must be registered with the Department of Agriculture before they are sold, offered or exposed for sale.

THREE THROWN OUT

Buggy Collides with Telephone Pole. Serious Results Follow.

What could have been a most serious accident was narrowly averted Thursday afternoon when Mrs. Mary Storm, her daughter, Miss Bernadine Storm, and grandson, Donald Brady, of McSherrystown, were thrown from a buggy sustaining severe bruises and cuts on their bodies. The party were on their way home from Irish-town and in driving down the Markle hill, near Mt. Misery, the horse became unmanageable and ran away. The buggy collided with a telephone pole and the occupants were thrown to the road. A passing team took the unfortunate party home where they were given attention by Drs. George L. and A. C. Rice. The horse which belonged to Frank Wilt was caught by James O'Brien at the Leivelsberger blacksmith shop. The harness was torn and the buggy badly broken.

GOVERNOR'S PLANS

The party will motor here from Harrisburg Sunday morning and Governor Brumbaugh will preach the baccalaureate sermon in College Church at the service at 10:15. He and Mrs. Brumbaugh will take dinner at the "White House" on the campus and will return to Harrisburg during the afternoon. It is possible that Governor Brumbaugh may address a meeting on the campus Sunday afternoon. If this is arranged, announcement will be made from the church pulpits in the morning.
